

New Conversations About White Privilege

The New Conversations About White Privilege tool is designed for individuals and groups who have begun to explore racism and want to learn more about the various facets of the issue. The white privilege tool draws on the work of author Dr. Peggy McIntosh, who defines privilege as unearned advantage. Dr. McIntosh writes, "I feel that seeing privilege is the missing link between understanding discrimination of any kind and how to end it. I now believe that white privilege, rather than discrimination, is the central actor in racism."

This two-hour dialogue introduces the concept of systemic thinking, uses both small and large group activities to process the information in a meaningful way and encourages participants to think about how they can use their abilities to undo racism.

New Conversations is FREE to individuals and organizations.

May 18, 2010

10 a.m. to 12 Noon

Alexandria Technical College

Facilitated by Rowzat Shipchandler of the Saint Paul Foundation

Reserve your seat for this event by contacting the Alexandria Technical College at:

Phone: 320-762-4510

Toll Free: 1-888-234-1313

Email: jolened@alextech.edu

Please provide your name, phone number, and email address for registration.

This training is brought to you by the Diversity Resource Action Alliance (DRAA). To learn more about DRAA, visit their website at:

www.diversitytoday.org